For Immediate Release: Fertile Ground Cooperative Hosts Grand Opening at New Facility

Oklahoma City, OK – Fertile Ground Cooperative is hosting a grand opening on Saturday, March 25, 2023 from 9a-8p at their location at 2228 S. Santa Fe Ave in Oklahoma City. The event will include discounts on garden/landscape products, free food & drinks, giveaways, activities, and more.

Red Cup Coffee, Clarity Coffee, Molly's Tamales, Skydance Brewery, Curbside Flowers and more will be providing products and services at the event. There will also be family friendly activities and educational information provided by community partners including Lillian Timber Farms, Scissortail Park, OKC Beautiful, Commonwealth Urban Farms, and Oklahoma Compost and Sustainability Association.

After years of steady growth, Fertile Ground is breaking new ground on expanding their commercial composting capabilities and increasing drop off recycling options. With the new space they hope to have a greater positive environmental impact and make reducing waste more accessible to the local community.

The following quote can be attributed to Terry Craghead, Operations Manager for Fertile Ground:

“We are excited to welcome our neighbors, customers and community members to celebrate this event with us. We want the Oklahoma City Metro area to have real, sustainable options with respect to waste recycling and composting. So many people don’t realize they could be recycling and composting and making sure it gets done right. We are here to help!”

Fertile Ground is a worker-owned cooperative transforming waste into community wealth by repurposing compostable and recyclable materials in order to protect local ecosystems, foster a circular economy and cultivate an equitable workplace.
